A Great Undertaking

It is difficult to conceive of any federal organization that is doing, or is capable of doing, more for the permanent welfare of Western Canada than the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration.

The word "permanent" is used, because, unlike many administrative organizations that have been set up from time to time, it is designed to reach down to the problems of the individual farmer and his efforts are intended to effect a permanent cure for the defects, which time has shown, have impeded the development and prosperity of the major industry of the west, the industry upon whose success depends the welfare of the country as a whole. That problem, in a nutshell, is accessibility of water as and when it is required to promote growth and maturity.

To some degree, and in some areas of this vast west, the problem has already been solved by the P.F.R.A. and as a result of its activities, thousands of families who a few years ago were unable to wrest a living from the soil, are now able to provide the necessities of life for themselves, and thousands more are on the high road to achievement of the same objective self-sufficiency.

The results already achieved are so self-evident as to warrant further expansion of the efforts that have been made in this direction to date. Future results will only be limited by the amount of money made available for further extension of this excellent work, and because of the preeminence in the improvement in agricultural prosperity which these activities create, there should not only be no curtailment in worthwhile expenditures, but, if it is at all financially possible, more money should be made available for this valuable undertaking.

Program Is Unique

Reference here is made more specifically to the appropriation made available for small individual and small community projects such as dug-out for the individual farmer or small groups of farmers, small dams for the provision of water for farm gardens, for stock watering and for minor irrigation projects, for the extension of the community pasture plan, for the transfer of families from marginal or sub-marginal areas which cannot be improved and made productive, for the encouragement of moisture conserving methods of cultivation and for expansion of tree planting programs to provide shelter for livestock and to conserve soil and conserve moisture, to protect gardens and to convert houses into homes.

Of all organizations on the North American continent devoted to the doctrine and practice of moisture conservation, P.F.R.A. in Western Canada is unique in its development, application and expansion of the small individual and community project. The United States is the habitat of the spectacular scheme which harnesses the productive potentiality of great rivers and makes it available to the use of thousands of square miles of kilowatts of electrical power and in terms of thousands of square miles of cultivated area.

It is true that in Western Canada also, P.F.R.A. has developed a limited number of larger irrigation projects and has more mapped out for the future, but to date, its major effort has been devoted to a multiplicity of small, inexpensive projects, and it should not be overlooked that while these miniature undertakings are not of sufficient magnitude to draw large headlines in the daily newspapers, their cumulative effect brings equally beneficial results to large numbers of people and to large areas in the aggregate.

Sound Economy

It is not intended to convey the impression that money required for the war effort should be diverted to extension of P.F.R.A. activities. On the contrary, the war is, and must be, the first and the greatest consideration. Unless this war is won the work of the P.F.R.A. and the money expended upon it goes for naught in its beneficial effects upon the welfare of the people of this country. It would only be of advantage to the Nazi conqueror. Too much stress cannot be laid upon this certitude. If, however, some curtailment of other domestic activities could be effected without serious impairment of vital necessities to enable the prosecution of the small project to be continued on a more extended scale, it would pay long term dividends as well as being almost immediate results.

The large scale project, valuable though it may be, involving expenditure of millions of dollars, can very well be deferred until after victory has crowned the efforts of the armed forces and the civilian population. Indeed, projects of this nature will be required to stem the threat of widespread unemployment after the guns have ceased to bark, and to have plans of this nature in prospect for post-war construction is sound war-time economy.

On the other hand, it is equally sound economy to push the small project to the limit of national ability to finance, no matter if it does not encroach war needs as measured in manpower, materials or financial resources.

A Valuable Contribution

Without World No Country In World Would Be Prosperous

I am a farmer and the provider for all mankind. Upon me every human being constantly depends. A world is built upon by toll, my projects and my honesty. Because of my industry Canada, my country, is one of the leading countries of the world and one of the brightest outlook for the future. Her prosperity is maintained by me. My reaper brings food for to-day; my plow holds promise for to-morrow. In war I am absolute; in peace I am indispensable—my country's surest defence and constant reliance.

I am the very soul of Canada, the hope of a race, the balance wheel of civilization. When I prosper men are happy; when I fail, all the world suffers.

In London, the Minister of Home Security has disclosed that unexploited mines, mostly controlled by soviet hunters, have killed 12 persons and injured six.

At key points all over Britain ambulances and casualty evacuation trains stand ready for constant use. Find out, the trains would extend for seven miles.

The results already achieved are so self-evident as to warrant further expansion of the efforts that have been made in this direction to date. The Holy City

Jerusalem Is Now A Trembling Metropolis

Refugees streaming into Jerusalem have made the ancient Holy City a teeming metropolis, where all Allied uniforms can be seen, and there is a babel of tongues, races and colors.

Not since the days of King Solomon has the city been such an important Middle Eastern centre. Successive German penetrations in the Mediterranean have brought royalty, cabinet ministers, diplomats, professors and students to Jerusalem.

For the first time since the crusades, Christians of all sects are united under one flag and in a common cause. But unlike the crusades of 800 years ago, the brotherhood of arms now includes Moslems, Jews and Hindus.

Religious-minded persons see in this the beginning of the fulfilment of Isaiah's ancient prophecy in which the Lord's house was set on the mountain tops and all nations flowed to it.

They believe there also will be fulfilment of that part of the prophecy, which says: "They will beat swords into plowshares, spears into pruning hooks, nation shall not lift sword against nation, and they will not war any more."

The mood of Jerusalem is evidenced by the fact there is a shortage of Bibles in the European languages.

The Holy Sepulchre is the focal point of daily life, where appointments are made and kept, where carefully-groomed society women mix with ebony Senegalese, where dramatic meetings take place between brothers and sisters who have not suspected one another's presence in Palestine.

Most refugees are energetically engaged in sight-seeing. One tourist manager, misquoting Moliere, classifies them as "tourists despite themselves."

Jerusalem is so overcrowded that convents, churches, synagogues and even the Hebrew university on Mount Scopus are converting all space available into sleeping quarters for refugees regardless of their faith.

During the day the population appears to subsist chiefly on ice cream, watermelon, cold native tamarine drinks or bilious-looking lemonade purchased from street-vendors shooting their wares in all languages.

The evenings are spent meandering through the old city, taking in its rare beauty as the muezzins' voices mingle with church bells, sheep bells and the evening prayers in synagogues.

The Helpful Husband

Is Found More Often On Farm Than In City

The St. Catharines Standard says: Girls who want a husband who will help with the dishes should marry a farm boy. As a rule city boys shy away from helping their wives with the housework. That is the conclusion drawn from a survey of city and country wives made by the Association of University Women in Canada. The results of which were announced recently. The same probably applies to the Canadian domestic activities survey shows 57 per cent. of rural husbands help their wives with housework, while but 40 per cent. of the city husbands included in the survey were domestic helpmates.

Quite True

The teacher was trying to impress on the children how important it had been the discovery of the law of gravitation. "Sir Isaac Newton was sitting on the ground, looking at the grass. An apple fell on his head, and from that he discovered gravitation. Just think, children," she added, "isn't that wonderful?"

The inevitable small boy replied: "Yeh, an' if he had been sittin' in 'snoozer' look' at his books, he wouldn't never have discovered nothin'."

Story About Two Dogs Seems To Require Some Telling

"I've got a couple of dogs called Once and Twice," said the dog man. When people say to them, "Come here, doggies!" I say, "You've got to call him Once and the other one Twice."

Of course, I call them both once even if I've called one Twice. Before I called them Once and Twice I called them To and Fro, but I didn't like those names, so I called them What they are now.

You see, I named both of them twice, even if I named only one of them Once.

I don't have to call Twice twice—and—

Now! Work it out for yourself!

Locomotive Dissolved

Engineers Use Odd Means To Remove Wreck From Channel

Engineers are using electrolysis to disintegrate a locomotive instead of lifting it from the Piscataqua River at Portsmouth, N.H.

The engine plunged into the river last year when a train bridge collapsed. Salvaging would cost too much, but the channel must be cleared of the obstruction.

Divers went down to the river floor and attached cables and plates to the locomotive. The ocean water serves as the electrolyte. It is not known how long it will take to dissolve the 125 tons of metal.

The British Broadcasting Corporation told this story about a comment made by the late ex-Kaiser Wilhelm of Hitler:

Last year, at the time of the fall of France, the ex-kaiser was told Hitler had planned the whole operation.

The Kaiser shrugged his shoulders and said: "It only goes to show how well we trained our corporals in the last war."

WILL CONTINUE STRUGGLE UNTIL VICTORY IS WON

London.—Britain, her Dominions and her Allies adopted a resolution affirming their determination to continue the struggle against Germany and Italian oppression until victory is won and pledging mutual assistance to each other in this struggle to the utmost of their respective capacities.

This action was taken in the first formal convocation of representatives of the British Empire and of all the governments with which it is allied. The resolution declared:

"There can be no settled peace and prosperity so long as free peoples are coerced by violence into submission to domination by Germany or her associates or live under the threat or such coercion."

"It is their (the Allies') intention to work together and with other peoples both in war and peace to this end."

The high commissioners of Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa represented the four dominions.

Prime Minister Churchill, addressing the meeting, declared "nothing is more certain" than that every "chain of his (Hitler's) plans and his corroding fingers will be sponged and purged and, if need be, blasted from the surface of the earth."

The prime minister thanked the Allied leaders on the King's behalf for "the tremendous moral blow" they had struck for the common cause.

"It is here on this island fortress that we will have to reckon in the end," Mr. Churchill declared of Hitler. "We shall strive to resist by land and sea. We shall be on his track wherever he goes."

He said Hitler would find "no peace, no rest, no halting place, no parity."

Ending on a solemn note, he told the gathering, sprinkled with the uniforms of the Allied armies and navies, that "if driven to desperate hazards, he will attempt an invasion of the British Isles, as well he may. We should not flinch from the supreme trial. With the help of God, of whom we must feel daily conscious, we shall continue steadfast in faith and duty till our task is done."

The resolution of the conference was adopted by the governments of the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Greece, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Poland, Yugoslavia and, by representatives of the Free French movement.

Battle Of Atlantic

Stronger Convoy Protection Is Improving The Battle.

Ottawa.—The battle of the North Atlantic has been going "rather better" for Britain lately, in the opinion of Rt. Hon. Ronald Cross, new British high commissioner to Australia, who is in Canada on the way to that country to take up his appointment.

The former minister of economic warfare and more recent minister of shipping cited "better air support and stronger convoy protection" as reasons for the apparent turn in the fortunes of war on the northern sea. He emphasized, though, he was not in close touch with the immediate situation.

Receives Victoria Cross

London.—Second Lieut. Premindra Singh Bhagat of the corps of Indian Engineers became the first Indian soldier in this war to be awarded the Victoria Cross. Bhagat was detected and supervised clearing of 15 mine fields in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan working under high pressure from dawn to dusk daily.

French Tanker Torpedoed

Vichy, France.—The Vichy allyship said the French tanker Albert had been torpedoed in the Mediterranean by a British submarine and seven members of the crew had been killed. The communiqué said the tanker was seriously damaged, but did not sink.

Relieved Of Duties

Moscow.—B. L. Vannikov, commissar for armaments in the government, has been relieved of his duties "for failure to cope with the duties of a commissar," and Dmitri Ustinov has been appointed in his place.

To Retain Jobs

Legislation Designed To Protect Men Who Enlist For Active Service

Ottawa.—Legislation is being prepared to ensure so far as possible that men who give up positions to enlist for active service, will be sure of their jobs when they come back, Labor Minister Maclellan told the House of Commons.

The legislation will be introduced when parliament reconvenes after the summer adjournment. Mr. Maclellan said it was felt those who go overseas should have as much security as possible in their peace-time occupations.

The bill provides that employers will, so far as possible, reinstate men who leave them for active service in positions no less favorable than they might have attained had they not enlisted.

The legislation will be modeled generally after a British measure designed to attain the same objective. Mr. Maclellan said.

Angus MacInnis (C.C.F., Vancouver East) asked if the government would make the principle of the proposed legislation effective in the meantime.

The minister said the bill had not yet received final consideration of council, but he was confident it would not be restricted to application to those who enlist after the measure becomes law.

The minister said a draft of the bill had been submitted to the labor advisory committee and other representative labor bodies, and to the general public, for comment on the desirability and rehabilitation of the pensions department.

Fast Planes

Send More Than A Thousand Tomahawk Fighters To Britain

Buffalo, N.Y.—The Curtis-Wright company announced it had sent more than 1,000 fast Tomahawk fighters to Britain and demonstrated a faster, spike-nosed pursuit plane whose performance and armament were kept secret.

The Bell Aircraft corporation which makes the P-52 Mustang said it had sent 11 of these cannon-carrying fighters to Britain but that none had yet seen action. Curtis expects production capacity of 50 pursuit planes a day and Bell, P-46.

The new Curtis P-46, more pointed and streamlined than the P-40 Tomahawk was flown before returned war correspondents who went through the Curtis and Bell plants.

Correspondents noted that most of the planes being finished in the two plants here the Royal Air Force insignia or had special British fittings.

To Speed Up Work

Britain Puts All Building Industries Under Works Order

Ottawa.—Moving to speed up vital war work, the government placed building and civil engineering industries under an essential works order. This means that workers' right to quit and employers' right to fire in these industries will be under the government control, as in the munitions industries.

"It is well known," said Labor Minister Ernest Brown, "that full productivity of the war effort is dependent to a large extent on expediting certain buildings and civil engineering works in this country. We must speed up effort on air fields and on war offices and admiralty construction. There is no time to argue with anybody."

The order guarantees a six-day work week.

Diplomatic Service

New Open To Deserving Candidates Without Private Income

London.—Foreign Secretary Eden told the House of Commons the diplomatic service will be opened to deserving candidates without sources of private income.

The change, it was said, will open high posts to men of the highest talent in diplomatic and consular branches. In the past, a monopoly on choice diplomatic posts has been held by public school men of private means.

Mr. Eden said women too will be eligible for posts at the same responsible positions under the new regulations making "financial reforms."

Increase Tank Production

Ottawa.—Production of tanks at the Chrysler plant at Montreal is progressing favorably, Munitions Minister Howe said in the House of Commons. He said the objective of the assembly line production at the rate of three a day will be achieved shortly.

Will Allow Air Terminals

But Eire Still Refuses Use Of Airports Or Seaports For Military

London.—Irish sources said Prime Minister Eamon de Valera of Eire had refused to permit the United States to use either airports or seaports in Eire as a stepping stone for transportation of war supplies to British forces in Europe.

The prime minister said to feel that use of any part of Eire for such purposes would open the country to German air attacks as a legitimate military target. It was understood that he is agreeable to establishment of a terminus in Eire for trans-Atlantic passenger service.

The United States was said ready to be speeding arrangements for a direct air link with Britain because of fear that German moves in the western Mediterranean and Atlantic soon might sever the present connection via the Azores and Lisbon.

VICTORY TORCH IS DEDICATED AT OTTAWA RITES

Ottawa.—The Torch of Victory, symbol of Canadian support of the Mother Country, was dedicated at Parliament Hill, and Prime Minister Mackenzie King linked with the words of appreciation of the symbol an appeal for Canadians to enlist in the fighting forces.

The torch, which will be handed to Prime Minister Winston Churchill when he has crossed the Atlantic after being received at ceremonies in major Canadian cities, stood in the center of a main walk to the Centre Block.

Standing on a flag-draped platform, the prime minister could be seen to his left the National War Memorial erected in honor of Canada's dead in the first Great War. He referred to the monument in his address, saying that the figures depicting liberty and freedom placed on it should challenge Canadians to see they did their part in the present day struggle against Nazism.

It was essential that all assist in the war, and by the provision of men and money victory could be gained.

"I wish to express the gratitude of the government to the armed forces," said Mr. King. "They have earned the gratitude of Canada and all free countries."

"I call on young men to enlist in this great cause. I make this appeal to young men who live here after the war is ended."

Money as well as men was needed, and he urged support of Victory Loan 1941.

Pointing towards the national monument and referring to the figures of liberty and freedom, Mr. King asked: "When the new memorial is erected on each one of us say, 'I have done my part'?"

When Mr. King finished his address, the torch was carried to the platform where the governor-general, prime minister and cabinet ministers stood.

The scroll which accompanies the torch was signed first by the governor-general, and then by Mr. King, Conservative House Leader Hanan and Mayor Lewis.

Soldiers' Railway Fare

Two-Thirds Reduction For Service Men On Leave

Ottawa.—Minister of National Defence Ralston told a cheering house that the government had arranged for a two-thirds reduction in railway fares to soldiers on annual or embarkation leave.

The men formerly paid one and one-quarter cents per mile for return tickets. Now, the Dominion government and the railroads will pay two-thirds of this amount leaving members of the armed forces with one-third of the cost.

Ralston added that 32 per cent. of the total recruits needed for the Canadian army had been enlisted since the opening of the current campaign. The total number enlisted thus far is 19,344 men.

Canadian Women Interned In France Are Being Released

Ottawa.—All Canadian women interned in France are being released, said a statement issued by the external affairs department. A recent list showed they numbered 59.

Representations have been made by the Canadian government through the U.S. government, stating that German women had not been interned in Canada merely on the ground of their nationality.

Civil Defence Army

London.—Britain has a civil defence army 4,000,000 strong, Herbert Morrison, home secretary, revealed in parliament. The minister added that the ranks of fire-bomb fighters were increased recently by 2,500,000 men and women.

CANADA SOUNDS TRUMPET CALL

Taking Heavy Toll

Many Canadians In Britain Injured In Motorcycle Crashes

Ottawa.—Motorcycle accidents are taking a heavy toll of Canadian troops in Britain, according to a statement issued by the War Office. Canuck inactivated out of the army after months overseas.

Many of the men who came back with him, he said, were forced out of uniform by injuries they suffered while dashing around on those noisy machines. Main reasons for their crashes, he said, are the narrow English roads and the blackout which made night manoeuvres difficult.

Sets Air Record

Bomber Flies From Britain To Moscow In 13 1/2 Hours

London.—A bombing plane has set a new east-west trans-Atlantic record of 13 1/2 hours from England to Canada, it was revealed by officials of Aéro, a division of the British ministry of aircraft production.

The plane, bringing trans-Atlantic pilot back to Canada, ferryed other bombers across to England, landed at an eastern airport 13 1/2 hours after taking off from an undisclosed spot in England.

HON. R. B. BENNETT IS ELEVATED TO THE PEERAGE

London.—A viscountcy is bestowed on Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett in the King's birthday honours.

The honor to the former Canadian prime minister is the highest comparatively short civilian list, which includes also the appointment of Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian minister of the interior of the United Kingdom, to the privy council.

Lord Bennett will take a seat in the House of Lords, thus returning to political life from which he retired in 1938 when he came to England to do something helpful for the Empire and Canada.

His elevation to the peerage had been predicted since he first arrived in England and became a member of the House of Commons, when he was knighted by King George V.

Though he has not been in the limelight to the same degree as when he was leader of the Canadian Conservative party, he frequently has been seen on public platforms as a speaker or chairman and has been given an unobtrusive but important role in the ministry of aircraft production.

In the house of lords he will be seen with another Canadian minister, Lord Beaverbrook, a business colleague in his early years in Canada and until recently in the ministry of aircraft production.

The viscountcy is of historic importance. It was the first peerage in the service of Canada that has received baronies at various times but Lord Bennett is the first Canadian prime minister upon whom a peerage has been conferred.

Mr. Massey is the second Canadian named to the privy council in recent months. The other is Arthur Purvis, chairman of the North American Supply Council. The distinction invites the bearer to the prefix "right honorable."

Created a viscount, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett returns to parliamentary life with a seat in the house of lords where he is expected to take an active part in debates and political leaders believe may possibly assume the role of an Empire spokesman.

Some authorities indicated other honors had been offered Lord Bennett but that he had accepted the peerage because he felt he could be of most service in the upper chamber at this critical period of the war.

Nearing his 71st birthday, he appears to be in better health than when he left Canadian politics three years ago on doctor's orders.

Stunning bravely, he received a Canadian Press correspondent at his busy desk in the ministry of aircraft production where a flood of congratulatory telegrams to him poured in on him as word of the honor moved around London even before the official announcement.

Attired in a wing collar, black coat and striped trousers similar to those he wore in the Canadian House of Commons, he indicated he looked forward with keen anticipation to speaking again in a parliamentary assembly. He talked of his peerage with reminiscence on Canadian political life, but mentioned only sparingly his future plans.

WAITING FOR THE NEXT NAZI MOVE TOWARDS EAST

London.—Speculation runs riot over the reported Nazi troop concentrations from the Baltic to the Black Sea near Russian borders, but it seems improbable that a German-entire dash is impending.

Obviously German troops are being redistributed in the Balkans and probably in Poland and elsewhere on the eastern frontiers of the German reich. It is also altogether probable that these shifts correspond to Berlin's plans for the next major Nazi move against Britain in the east, whether it be via North Africa, Cyprus, Syria or Turkey.

Whatever may be the fact as to Moscow-Berlin relations at the moment, however, it does not seem probable that Hitler contemplates more than force-politics pressure on Russia at this stage.

His logical strategy would be to bring from his further economic and such need for oil or iron ore to immobilize her while he puts the heat on Turkey to collaborate "with the Axis against Russia."

Turkish-Russian relations have been very close. There have been frequent meetings between the two countries, and Turkey is said to be in a position to offer opposition to German penetration of Bulgaria and Yugoslavia.

Except under extreme pressure, Moscow could hardly countenance such straddling of the fence and to reach Iran or Syria. That would bar her Black Sea outlet. Yet it is the shortest land route for a supply of Russian oil and iron ore from the British forces beyond the Mediterranean.

It appears unlikely that German military efficiency would risk a 2,000-mile round-about march through Russia to reach Iran or Iraq, even if it really important oil resources with a better and shorter Turkish route available.

Except the capture of Crete seals the Aegean against the British fleet and fends off British air attack the Russian oil route. It is of only limited strategic value to the Nazis—unless a move against Turkey is in the cards. That seems most probable in a Nazi invasion of Russia for any purpose.

Air Force Enlistments

A Total Of 48,772 Men Join The Royal Canadian Air Force

Ottawa.—Between October, 1939, and May 14, 1941, a total of 48,772 men, of whom 38,000 were Canadian, and 22,338 ground crew, enlisted in the Royal Canadian Air Force. Dr. H. A. Bruce (Cdn., Toronto-Parkdale) announced the figures at a press conference in the House of Commons.

Enlistments from western Canada included 1,643 air crew; Saskatchewan, 5,277 including 1,509 air crew; British Columbia, 4,314 including 1,493 air crew; Alberta, 4,196 including 1,326 air crew.

Metal Restrictions

Aluminum, Nickel And Zinc Are Becoming Scarce

Ottawa.—Canadians were urged in a statement by Munitions Minister Howe "to accustom themselves to growing restrictions" on the use of key metals for non-essential purposes.

"Such metals as aluminum, nickel and zinc are increasingly in demand as war industries come into production both in Canada and in the United States," said the statement. "And if the public is not able in future to obtain many articles to which it is accustomed, it must be realized that it is the government and not the manufacturers who are responsible for the curtailment of supplies."

Refugees In Cairo

Cairo.—Refugees are streaming by rail and highway into Cairo from the Axis-occupied British base at Alexandria. Reports say that there are long lines of cars on the roads between the Egyptian cities. At Cairo, Premier Hussein Sirry Pasha has listed at least 531 persons killed and hundreds wounded in recent Axis raids.

CONTINUING BUYING
SAVINGS CERTIFICATES

Recognizing the need for continued saving throughout the summer months the Dominion War Savings Committee have appealed to students attending schools throughout Canada to keep up their regular purchases of war savings certificates during their vacation. The appeal was addressed to principals and teachers with the request that they obtain signed pledges from their students, pledges which state that the student will "do his best" to purchase war savings certificates during July and August.

Special war savings folders have been prepared and these will be distributed among the students before they quit school. Like the regular folders, space has been provided so that 10 war savings stamps may be affixed for the purchase of one five dollar war savings certificate.

"Every school pupil in Canada, no matter how young, has a certain share in Canada's war effort. Each can exert his or her share of the power that makes for Victory. There is no unimportant person in Canada today," W. H. Semerville, joint national chairman of the War Savings Committee said in a message to teachers.

MORE FORAGE CROPS

Ten thousand, seven hundred lbs. of forage crop seed were distributed to 250 farmers through the Grande Prairie District Agricultural office, according to W. S. Scarth, District Agriculturist at Grande Prairie. Most of this seed was distributed to Improve District Associations.

Varieties favored were Brome, Alfalfa, Crested Wheat Grass, Alkali and Alameda in the order named. Except for the last two, registered or sorted seed produced in the district was used to fill the orders.

Considerable interest was shown this spring in Alameda Clover too. Very little good seed of this clover is available in the Peace River area and farmers are being encouraged to produce seed crops of Alameda next year. There is also a considerable increase in seedling of registered Grim Alfalfa. The demand for Brome was so heavy that many orders could not be filled.

This report indicates a further increase in the use of forage crop seed, partly in an effort to hasten the use of the reduced wheat acreage and also because agriculture is becoming more diversified as the demand for livestock and livestock products is expanded because of the war.

CANADIAN FRUITS TO BE SENT TO BRITAIN IN FORM OF JAM

Three hundred thousand pounds of Canada's fruits will be sent to Britain in the form of jam by the Canadian Red Cross Society during the season of 1941. Red Cross Branches and the Women's Institutes in fruit growing districts all over Canada are now organizing kitchens to preserve the fruits this summer and fall. Cans, labels and cartons are being supplied by the Red Cross and the Women's Institutes members are giving the fruit, sugar and labour.

This year's undertaking has the support of every province in the Dominion and has been greatly stimulated by the success of last season's jam project when the women of Ontario and British Columbia canned 125,000 pounds of fruit most of which was shipped overseas for British civilians and military hospitals. Women's church and club groups throughout the country have also offered their co-operation. Colonel John A. Cooper, of the Canadian Red Cross Society is national chairman of the Jam Committee. Mrs. Allan Stevenson, Red Cross Nutrition Service, is supervising the project under the direction of a national committee.

In British Columbia and some parts of Southern Ontario, where the fruit season commences early, strawberries have already been canned in local kitchens by groups of volunteer women. Great quantities of raspberries, red currants, gooseberries, blackberries, peaches, plums, grapes and apples will be made into jam or jelly as the summer advances. Red Cross Branches outside the fruit belt have offered money in support of the jam project and the Western provinces will contribute honey instead of fruit.

Great Britain has already signified that all the jam that can be shipped will be greatly in demand since jam is now rationed at one-half pound per person per month.

"IF YOU SEE ANYBODY
LOOKING FOR A GOOD BULL,
I'VE GOT ONE FOR SALE"

Passing the word along to your neighbors that you have a bull, or a horse, or a hundred barrels of seed oats for sale, is advertising.

If you wanted to give your advertising message wider distribution, you'd have it printed in the local paper.

That is exactly what the advertisers are doing in this issue—letting it be known what they have to market.

They can't afford to misrepresent their merchandise, because the news of sharp practice soon gets around. To continue selling, an advertiser must have a reputation for honest dealing. He is entitled to an honest price as long as he gives the purchaser his money's worth.

Advertising continues to be useful because it renders a service, both to the seller and the buyer. It pays to advertise . . . and it pays to read the other fellow's advertisement.

PROVINCIAL NEWS NOTES

Announcing that the Province would subscribe $1,750,000 to the Victory Loan, Premier Aberhart recently said that the total governmental subscriptions to date have reached $1,895,000. "The province is for an all-out war effort," he said earlier. "We feel that the Federal Government is responsible for the leadership, having the full mandate to carry on the war. It would appear to us that all citizens should do everything they can to put an end to the totalitarian threat against our democratic faith and institutions."

STILL AFTER BANK CHARTER

The Provincial Government is considering new steps to take in efforts to obtain a bank charter, it was announced last week by Premier Aberhart. Hon. Lucien Maynard and W.S. Gray, of the attorney-general's department, recently returned from Ottawa after unsuccessfully putting the case for such charter before the banking and commerce committee. The Premier said Alberta proposed to make any amendments necessary to comply with the law, and if there was doubt to refer the bill to the supreme court of Canada.

Canadian Pacific Builds First Canadian Tank

It was a proud day for the Canadian Pacific Railway's Angus Shops at Montreal when D. C. Coleman, Vice-president, announced a gathering of government officials, company officers, workers and newspaper men that he had had put into building this splendid war machine. He is, in turn, gave the tank and all others to come of the Angus assembly line to the Hon. J. L. Hurlston, Minister of National Defence, who thanked the Canadian Pacific workers for the fine job they had helped the Empire to its victory. The tank was gratefully accepted by the Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions and Supply, who praised Mr. Coleman, H. A. Bowen, chief of motive power and rolling stock, and other Canadian Pacific men for the effort they had put into building this splendid war machine. He is, in turn, gave the tank and all others to come of the Angus assembly line to the Hon. J. L. Hurlston, Minister of National Defence, who thanked the Canadian Pacific workers for the fine job they had helped the Empire to its victory. The tank was gratefully accepted your whole heart into this job," he said. He also mentioned that 150 of the thousands of tanks being made at the Angus Shops were being produced for the British Purchasing Commission. The pictures above show Mr. Coleman officially delivering the first tank to the Department of Munitions and Supply and, next, Corp. Colin Sibson, of the Royal Tank Regiment, a veteran of Dunkirk, complimenting an Angus worker on the construction of the tank.
